The largest immigration ever yet known in one year was in 1867, when it reached 243,781 but it is believed the number will in the present year be the largest ever yet known in the history of our country

In the last ten years we have received 2 500

000 emigrants, besides 65 000 Chinese The emigration from England seems likely to be conspicuously greater than at any former time, and it seems to be no sudden or fortultous outburst, but to originate in 'a disposition to systematize emigration and treat depletion as a recogn zed cure for the difficulties of the work

The Gormans, Swedes, Norwegians and Danes go chiefly to Wisconsin sithough many Sweden have been settling in Minnesota and Illi

The New York Evening Post estimates each emigrant on an average brings $50 in cash being about eix millions for the whole amount this year, and reckoning the value of the emigranic at $100 each, we have a total of over a hundred and twenty millions in value thus imported. No doubt, the aggregate carnings of the emigrants, above their mere expenses of subst-tence, will amount to far more than this

Thackeray's Novels

Vas to Fair. Fills Ongood 4.40 Easten It is well known that the mass of people prefer works of fiction to any other kind of writing or reading and public horarians tell us that there are more calls for Scott, Dickens, Thack -ic and other nosels from their alcoves so shelves, than any other class of literature. There are good enough reasons for this preference Human nature is the most interesting of studies and it as Pope says, "the proper study of mar kind is man then novels must be assigned: high rank as educating social forces

Field, Osgood & Cotheve now given us the finest adition of Thackerary ever issued by American buldishers It is a worthy companion series of the popular editions of Scott, Dickens the by the same enterprising Rouse. The pres ent edition of Thackersy a novels consists of all volutues bound with green moroecocioti with guit to ke and sides compact and elegant i is the a very their solution and destruct the name of the househ distinct There has long been a popular demaid for such an edition in this country for the circle of Thack cray a admirers is stendily widening, and i may be said that no future generation will eve time that knows not Thackeray Indeed it may be doubted whether Thackers a pages are more dear to a youth than they are attribute to the erson to a youth lusty, buoyant, con fiding and preedy of every pleasur, and the man who realizes the older he grows that the world is indeed a Venty hair just as Thack eray has lepted if it has now I bearing the
